DEDICATION

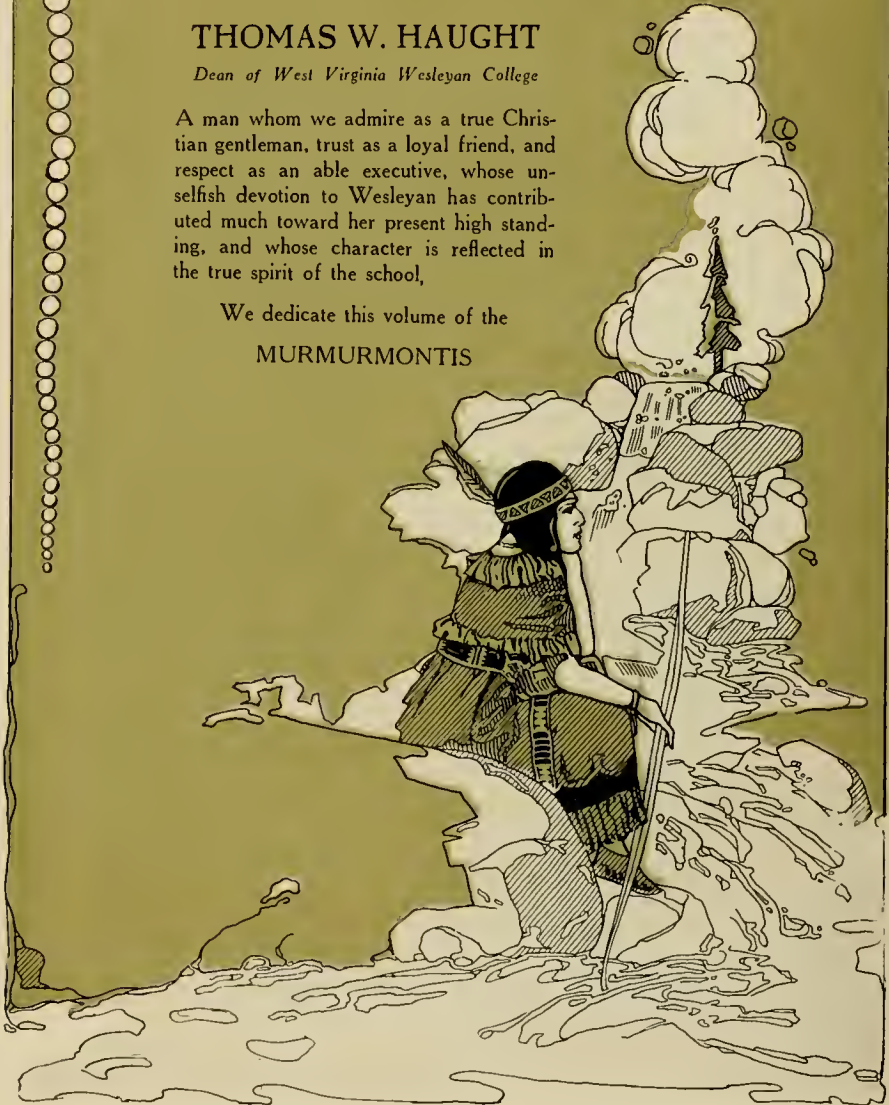

To

THOMAS W. HAUGHT

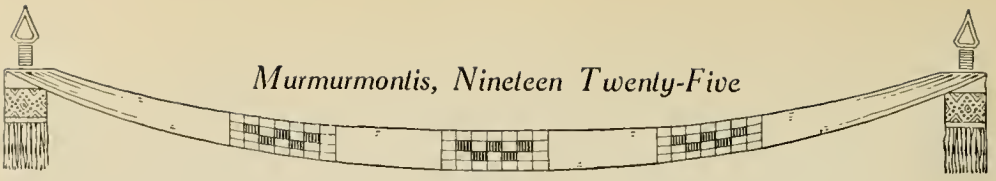

Dean of West Virginia Wesleyan College

A man whom we admire as a true Christian gentleman, trust as a loyal friend, and respect as an able executive, whose unselfish devotion to Wesleyan has contributed much toward her present high standing, and whose character is reflected in the true spirit of the school,

We dedicate this volume of the Thomas W. Haight, A.B., A.M.

DEAN WEST VIRGINIA WESLEYAN COLLEGE

West Virginia Conference Seminary; West Virginia University; Harvard University, Postgraduate; Johns Hopkins University, Postgraduate.

Dean Haight began teaching at Wesleyan in 1896 and became Dean in 1909. Every student of Wesleyan since that time knows "Tommy." He needs no introduction. May he continue to serve Wesleyan for many years to come.

Alma Mater of the Mountains

Alma Mater of the Mountains,
West Virginia Wesleyan;
At thy magic, mystic fountains,
Noblest dreams of life began,
We, thy children, bow before thee;
We, thy children, now adore thee,
And pledge God, who watches o'er thee,
Thou shalt fill the ample measures of His plan.

Alma Mater, Queen of Learning,
Of the Orange and the Black;
At thy call to wisdom turning
Naught of worth thy sons shall lack,
For the teaching of thy sages
With the writ of sacred pages
Will transmit the wealth of ages
Down the future's ever wider, brighter track.

Alma Mater of the Highlands,
Guardian of romantic years,
Thou dost bring us to the skylands,
With thy faith dispel our fears,
Give us friendships waning never,
And a call to high endeavor,
And companionship forever
With the God who guides the courses of the sphere.

Alma Mater of the Mountains,
West Virginia Wesleyan;
At thy magic, mystic fountains,
Noblest dreams of life began,
We, thy children, bow before thee;
We, thy children, now adore thee,
And pledge God, who watches o'er thee,
Thou shalt fill the ample measures of His plan.

President Elmer Guy Cutshall, Ph.D.

WESLEYAN is indeed fortunate in securing as president such a scholarly man as Dr. Cutshall. Not only is he a man of high scholastic attainments, but also a man of commanding intellect, deep insight, and exceptional executive ability.

In 1913, Dr. Cutshall received his A.B. degree from Cornell College, and was sent on a scholarship, representing the Department of Psychology, to the University of Iowa. He received his A.M. degree there in 1914, doing his thesis work under the special supervision of Dr. Carl Emil Seashore, dean of the graduate school and probably the world's leading student in the psychology of music.

After his graduation from the University of Iowa, he served for two years as pastor at Fairfax, Iowa. He received his B.D. degree from Garrett Biblical Institute in 1918, and was made Swift Fellow of the American University in 1919. He spent the years of 1919 and 1920 in meeting the residence requirements at the University of Chicago for the Ph.D. degree.

In the fall of 1920, Dr. Cutshall began his work in the University of Pennsylvania as head of the Wesley Foundation and director of religious education for seven Protestant denominations. He received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1922, and early the following year was elected to his present position.

President Cutshall's ambition has been to combine the activities of a student, a speaker, and an administrator. He is a man of broad education and wide interests. He is especially interested in philosophy, theology, economics, and sociology. His ambition as an administrator is to carefully study the student body, the church, athletics, the faculty, the curriculum and finance in order to maintain a symmetrical, well-rounded program. With a man of Dr. Cutshall's type at her head, the future of Wesleyan is bright with hope.

The Classes

*And the smoke rose slowly, slowly
Through the tranquil air of morning,
First a single line of darkness
Then a denser bluer vapor,
Then a snow-white cloud unfolding,
Like the tree-tops of the forest,
Ever rising, rising, rising,
Till it touched the top of heaven.*

Senior Class History

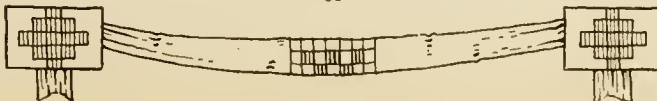

OUR years have passed since the Class of 1924 entered the halls of West Virginia Wesleyan. Those years, judged from the standpoint of time, represent but atoms in the history of the ages, but to us they represent four of the most important years of our lives. Years that have been spent in gaining knowledge, in developing character, in building friendships, and in all, fitting us to go out into the world to take our place, to fight the battles of life, to achieve and win honors for the school that has given to us our training.

To write a history of this class would require pages. We do not have the space in which to recount the deeds of this class and its members. It must suffice to mention a few things that make the Class of '24 one of the outstanding classes in the history of Wesleyan.

We entered Wesleyan in the fall of 1920; there were one hundred and thirty-six of us then. Since that time the personnel of the class has changed and now we have come to the end of our Wesleyan career with a membership of fifty-one. Some have dropped by the way, others have found it necessary to leave us, and a few have gone to other universities and colleges. The Class of '24 was the first class to go under Freshmen Rules, and by the spirit in which those rules were kept and obeyed, Wesleyan was able to start that which is destined to be one of the big traditions of the Old School. We lost the tug-of-war, although we fought manfully, we were pulled over by the bigger and more experienced Sophomores. By this defeat we lost the right to use the front entrance of the Administration building, and had to use the side doors. When we became Sophomores we inflicted this same defeat upon the Class of 1925. During that year the Freshmen Rules were rewritten and elaborated, and it was the Class of '24 that was given the job of putting them into effect, and we did so in such a manner as to firmly establish this tradition at Wesleyan and to so impress the Class of '25 that they will never forget us.

The members of this class, during our four years in Wesleyan, have won honors in every department of Wesleyan school life. Their brilliancy has been shown on the football field, the basketball floor, and on the diamond. Of the students who took part in the Intercollegiate Debate of 1923, three were from the Class of '24. Her members have had the honor of being the presidents of two Literary Societies, of the Christian Associations, the Debating Clubs, the Dramatic Club, and other organizations in Wesleyan. In addition to all this, the Class of '24 has the honor of having as her members the first two presidents of the Student Council.

We leave Wesleyan with a feeling of sadness and regret that we must go. Our hope is that our four years here have not been in vain; that Wesleyan has been benefited by our presence, and we go forth from her halls determined that we will ever keep aloft her traditions, her honor and her ideals.

Senior Class

GRACE BAKER, A.B.

RUFFSDALE, PA.

Allegheny College; Chrestomathean; Y. W. C. A.

"Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all."

Grace has a camouflage of a quiet, exclusive manner, which encloses the real individual. The ideals for which she stands are always the highest, and her attainments in scholarship can well be the envy of many.

CHALMERS AULT, A.B.

ELYRIA, OHIO

Student Manager Baseball, '21; Manager Basketball, '24; Football, '20, '21, '22, '23; President Varsity Club, '24; Excelsior; Wesleyan Masonic Club.

*"The soul that can be honest
Is the only perfect man."*

He wins honors for himself in football, and when it comes to honor in basketball—his popularity, and the fact that we know he is the man for the place made him our student manager.

Senior Class

GLADYS WARDEN BEDDOW, A.B.

MANNINGTON, W. VA.

Y. W. C. A.; Excelsior; P. K. C.

*"'Tis beauty truly blent, whose red and white
Nature's own sweet and cunning hand laid on."*

Her delightful reading has brought her often before the Wesleyan footlights, a place which she also occupies in many other school activities, and otherwise—from bright remarks about "official boards" to her praiseworthy definition of "transcendentalism."

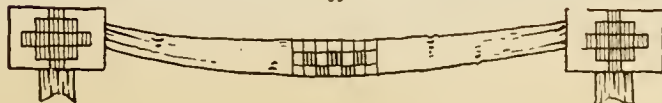

WILLIAM CASTO, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Ministerial Association; Y. M. C. A.

"If it be a gentleman and a scholar ye seek, ye have found him."

He's the type we need more of, steady and dependable, always behind anything for the best interests of the school. His criticism, when it comes, is appreciated, for it is always considerate and constructive.

Senior Class

LILLIE MAE BAUER, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Girls' Basketball, '19; Y. W. C. A.; Chrestomathican; Girls' Glee Club.

"Virtue is bold and goodness never fearful."

Whatever she does, she does well; whatever she enters into, she enters whole-heartedly; whether she lends her "pep" to a basketball squad, her aid to a class room, or her voice to a glee club.

PAUL E. CHAMBERLAIN, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Excelsior; President, Inter-collegiate Debating Team; Ministerial Association; Masonic Club.

"My library was dukedom large enough."

A man of character whom we are glad to praise; and, hearing praised, add one word more.

Senior Class

EVA MAE BROWN, A.B.
MANNINGTON, W. VA.

Excelsior; Chorister, '23; Y. W. C. A.; Glee Club, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24; Secretary-Treasurer, '21-'22; Business Manager, '23-'24; Murmurmontis Staff, '22-'23; Secretary Student Council, '23-'24.

"Who ran Through each mood of the lyre, and was master of all."

The song is almost ended, she lifts her voice in one final triumphant note—then deafening applause. No, it isn't Galli-Curci, but Eva Mae, one of our most accomplished vocalists and attractive students.

RUHL L. CUSTER, B.S.
GRAFTON, W. VA.

Class President, '21-'22; Vice-President Benzene Ring; Business Manager Wesleyan Pharos, '23-'24; Chrestomathean; Webster Debating Club.

"I would rather make tetramethyl diamidobinzophenone chloride than to eat."

You know him? A fine student and one of the ardent upholders of the Benzene Ring. Not to mention also, those physical qualities which make him "indeed, the glass wherein the noble youths do dress themselves."

Senior Class

MARIE ELLIOTT, B.S.

GRAFTON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Y. W. C. A.; Treasurer Benzene Ring, '22-'23.

"A miniature of loveliness, all grace summed up, and closed in, little."

And who disputes the grace which holds one of our Senior gallants so constantly by her side? Page Bradley.

BRADLEY ARNETT, A.B.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA.

Class President, '20; Football, '21; Baseball, '22; President Men's Glee Club; Chrestomathean; Y. M. C. A.

"Shall I, wasting in despair, Die because a woman's fair?"

What would the Glee Club do without his tenor, or "us" without his capabilities in either the gym kitchen or on the baseball diamond—or Marie without him? His future? One can hardly say, but one could guess.

Senior Class

BESSE FITZGERALD, A.B.
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Secretary Wesleyan Players,
'23-'24; Murmurmontis Staff, '22-'23; Photos
Staff, '22-'23.

"Fashioned so slenderly Young, and so fair."

A clever dramatist, a brilliant student, but most of all a charming acquaintance, and the dearest of friends.

DANA M. FORINASH, B.S.
HORNER, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Benzene Ring; Y. M. C. A

"The noblest mind the best contentment has."

One of the most unassuming and unpreten-tious men on the campus, and one of the best and, yes, it is almost trite to say "he is a good student," but it's entirely true. His loss will be sincerely felt by those he leaves behind.

Senior Class

MABELLE BLANCHE FOGLESONG, A.B.
BARNESVILLE, OHIO

Treasurer Excelsior, '24; Y. W. C. A. President, '23; U. R., '24; Chamber Orchestra, '24; Student Government Board, '24; Standard Normal, '21.

"Music, that gentler on the spirit lies Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes."

With her violin she has enchanted many audiences, and has played and won her way into the hearts and friendships of many of us. Beside this talent she works arduously at other school activities, chief among them being her notable Y. W. C. A. work.

CLIFFORD D. HAMRICK, B.S.
HARRISVILLE, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Vice-President Webster Debating Club, '21-'22; Men's Glee Club; Y. M. C. A.; P. K. C.; Benzene Ring.

*"Nature formed but one such man
And broke the die in molding."*

When "Swede" returned to us this year, he was greeted joyously by old students and with interest by new ones. He is brilliant in many fields. In some lines he aspires to know a little of everything, but in one, he seems to be making an intensive study.

Senior Class

NATALIE OATES GAMBLIN, A.B.

RUTHERFORD, N. J.

Vice-President Chrestomathean, '24; Y. W. C. A.

*"The voice so sweet, the words so fair
As some soft chime had stroked the air."*

A young lady who has compelled our respect and admiration throughout her college work, both by her enviable records in class rooms and her own winning personality.

HAROLD A. GAMBLIN, B.S.

LYNDHURST, N. J.

Glee Club, '21, '22, '23; President, '22; Band, '20, '21, '22; Chamber Orchestra; Chrestomathean; Y. M. C. A.; Wesleyan Players; President, '23; Benzene Ring.

*"And when a lady's in the case,
You know all other things give place."*

Possessing a most versatile mind, which turns from electricity to music and back again, "Stretch" has been one of our most capable students.

Senior Class

ESTHER WILLIAMS GREEN, A.B.
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Normal, '23; Chrestomathean; Wesleyan Players; Graduate in Expression, '22; Glee Club.

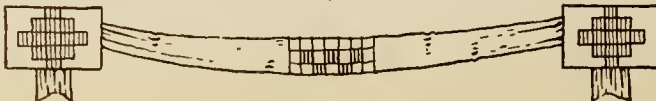

*"A perfect woman, nobly planned
To warn, to comfort, and command."*

For three years Esther played an important part in undergraduate life, and her last year has duplicated those in popularity and achievements. As a clever student and an accomplished reader, she has taken a part we shall find hard to replace.

ALLAN STATHERS, B.S.
SISTERSVILLE, W. VA.

"Still water runs deep."

While he does not court popularity, his sincere, straight-forward manner has won him many lasting friends. To say that he will be missed is putting it mildly.

Senior Class

OLIVE HAMMOND, A.B.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. VA.

Excelsior; Secretary Student Government, '22-'23; Girls' Glee Club, '21, '22, '23, '24; President, '23, '24.

*"There is none like her—none,
Nor will be when all summers have ceased."*

She is delightful in conversation, and her charm adds to her pleasing personality. A rare combination of wit, humor, and sensibility with the quality of looking on the bright side of life.

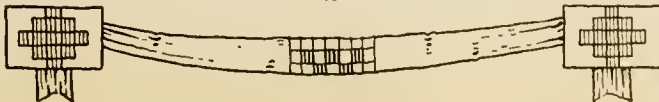

JOHN J. KNIGHT, A.B.

GRAFTON, W. VA.

Football, '20, '21, '22, '23; Basketball, '21, '22, '23; Base-ball, '21, '22, '23; Judge of Boys' Tribunal, '23; Chrestomathean.

"A Greek head on Yankee shoulders."

What more could be said of any man? Beside his rare ability in athletics, he became the terror of the Freshman boys with his verdicts in Freshman Court. He also adds daily to his already high prestige with the ladies.

Senior Class

AILEEN HENSELL, A.B.

TURTLE CREEK, PA.

Pianist Chrestomathean, '23; Y. W. C. A.; Girls' Basketball, '22, '23; Girls' Athletic Board, '23, '24; Girls' Tennis Manager, '23, '24.

"O, Music! sphere-descended maid, Friend of Pleasure, Wisdom's aid!"

As versatile a maid as you can find in Wesleyan. Besides "saying it with music," she has found an expression for her talent in æsthetic dancing and won renown both on the gym floor and in literary pursuits.

JOHN E. HANIFAN, A.B.

QUEENS, W. VA.

President Y. M. C. A., '23-'24; Captain Intercollegiate Debating Team, '22-'23; '23-'24; President Webster Debating Club; Chrestomathean; Masonic Club; Ministerial Association.

"A Christian is the highest style of man."

In the class room or on the public platform he performs his duties as becomes a man.

Senior Class

MARCIA-MAE HORTON, A.B.

WESTON, W. VA.

Allegheny College, '19-'21; Excelsior; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '22-'23, '23-'24; P. K. C.; Leader Student Volunteer Band, '23-'24; Student Government Board, '22-'23; President, '23-'24; Student Council, '23-'24; Wesleyan Pharos, '23-'24.

*"Show us how divine a thing
A woman may be made."*

The high standards of womanliness and nobility of soul, coupled with her genuine friendliness toward all, has won for her an unparalleled place in the hearts and minds of her many friends.

JOHN J. LOUDIN, A.B.

CZAR, W. VA.

President Wesleyan Debating Club; Student Council; President Wesleyan Masonic Club; Business Manager Murmurmontis, '24.

"Type of the wise who soar, but never roam."

A man of sterling character, firm purpose, and likeable disposition. He has made a worthy student and has the respect of the faculty as well as his fellow students.

Senior Class

HELEN HOWARD, A.B.

COWEN, W. VA.

Treasurer Excelsior, '23; Secretary Y. W. C. A., '22-'23; President Girls' Athletic Association, '23-'24; Judge of Girls' Court, '23; Treasurer Senior Class.

"A lady, whose bright eyes rain influence."

Endowed with many talents, her outstanding one is that of leadership, and leadership in many and various lines. Possessing a magnetic personality and fun-loving disposition, she has endeared herself to the hearts of many who have known her at Wesleyan.

J. E. JOHNSON, A.B.

BUCKHANSON, W. VA.

Christmas mathean; Basketball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Baseball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Treasurer Varsity Club.

"Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may be dead—broke."

When someone asked Jimmie in high school if he was worrying about graduating, he grinned and said, "The faculty's doing that for me." We wonder if the faculty still is, for Jimmy surely isn't. He finds Wesleyan pleasant, and Wesleyan finds him pleasant—so why worry?

Senior Class

ROSALIND KARICKHOFF, B.S.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Y. W. C. A.; Benzene Ring;
Student Orchestra.

"Thy soul was like a star and dwelt apart."

Consummate in the arts of science, Rosalind has retained all her wealth of womanliness and femininity, and adds to her qualities of high scholarship that sweetest of the art—music.

BYRON H. KEESECKER, A.B.

HEDGESVILLE, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Y. M. C. A.; Ministerial Association.

"Measures, not men, have always been my mark."

A hard student, a deep and clear thinker of the conservative school, he is a man admired by many friends, and one who is sure to succeed.

Senior Class

EVA McVANEY, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Graduate in Expression.

*"Grace was in all her steps,
In every gesture dignity and love."*

Some remember her especially for her "Mister Antonio," but we who know her better realize in her an appreciative friend with a lively interest in all about her, and an ever-ready smile.

ALBERT LUKE ROGERS, A.B.

LINN, W. VA.

President Webster Debating Club, '23; President Chrestomathean, '24; Y. M. C. A.; Glenville Normal.

"An abridgement of all that was pleasant in man."

As Miss Little so aptly puts it, we have heard of Rogers' silverware, but this is the era of Rogers' platinum. We wonder how Luke has the heart or takes the time to shine so in Ethics, Philosophy, Bible, and what not!

Senior Class

GAYZELLE RUSK, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Y. W. C. A.; Christomathean; Webster Debating Club; Wesleyan Players; Graduate in Expression, '23; Normal, '22.

*"The sweetest noise on earth, a woman's tongue,
I string that hath no discord."*

One will not soon forget the tender pathos and rare talent which marked her rendition of "Barbara Fritchie" at her graduation from the School of Expression. Besides her accomplishments in dramatic and literary lines, she teaches many little hopefuls in school and is well versed in the "dental arts" as well.

WINFIELD S. PATTERSON, A.B.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

President Senior Class; President Y. M. C. A., '22-'23; President Wesleyan Debating Club, '23; Manager Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course, '23-'24; Business Manager Pharos, '21-'22; Vice-President Ministerial Association, '21-'22; Christomathean; Intercollegiate Debating Team, '22-'23; Pharos Board of Control, '23-'24.

*"When he speaks,
The air, a chartered libertine, is still."*

"Pat" is truly said to be one of the brainiest, most level-headed men on the campus. A debater of ability and a literary man of attainments, he has made his mark here as he will do in the larger sphere that awaits him.

Senior Class

JANETTE SAUNDERS, A.B.

CLEVELAND, OHIO

House President Student Government, '23-'24; Secretary Y. W. C. A., '23-'24; Secretary Senior Class, '23-'24; Excelsior.

*"Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare
And beauty draws us with a single hair."*

A flash of a smile, a toss of golden hair, a personality that charms us all—and that is Janette, but not forgetting, also, her scholastic standing which is equal to her sociability.

BYRNE MURPHY, B.S.

CLAY, W. VA.

Vice-President Senior Class; Student Manager Football; Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Masonic Club.

"His heart was as great as the world."

"Pat" showed us what he knew when Prof. Matz gave us a Current Events test in almost forgotten days, and he has upheld his record in other fields as well.

Senior Class

ELLA GERALDINE SMITH
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean Pianist, '21

"Charms strike the sight, but merit wins the soul."

"Jerry" is known and beloved by us all, and as we grow to know her, we discover a wealth of fun, humor, and good fellowship—directed by a clear brain.

HALE A. PAULEY, A.B.

GLEN WHITE, W. VA.

Football, '19, '20, '22; President Student Council, '23, '24; President Chrestomathean, '23; President Varsity Club, '22, '23; Treasurer Varsity Club, '21, '22; Wesleyan Players; Vice-President Wesleyan Masonic Club, '22-'23; Webster Debating Club; Baseball Manager, '23; Murmurmontis Staff, '24; Circulation Manager Wesleyan Pharos, '23-'24

*"A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands."*

His teachers appreciate him, a dramatic audience cheers him, and the students want "Our Hale" wherever a true man, a big heart, and a level head are needed.

Senior Class

DORIS MARGARET THALIMER, A.B.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Y. W. C. A.

"Like perfect music unto noble words."

What more could express delight, praise and honor to such a dependable, studious and likeable girl? In Doris we find, at all times, those qualities which make for true friendship.

H. CURTIS PRICE, B.S.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.

Excelsior Vice-President, '22; President, '23; Secretary Benzene Ring, '22; Webster Debating Club; Football, '21-'22.

"None but himself can be his parallel."

Into the school life he has entered with all his brains, his energy, his interest. Wherever he is, he is all there, and he seems almost able to be in two places at once.

Senior Class

HELEN VIRGINIA TULLAR, A.B.

EAST ORANGE, N. J.

Excelsior Secretary, '22; Pianist, '23; Y. W. C. A.; P. K. C.; Student Volunteer.

*"The fairest garden in her looks
In her mind the wisest books."*

That clever combination of "looks" and "books" without either being over emphasized. Helen hails from New Jersey and we are glad that she found our mountain state so attractive that she now lends her many accomplishments to the Senior Class.

GEORGE A. PRIESTER, B.S.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

President Class, '22-'23; Chrestomathean Treasurer, '22; Football, '20, '21, '22, '23; Benzene Ring; Y. M. C. A.; Webster Debating Club; President Wesleyan Players, '23-'24; Varsity Club; Echos Staff, '22-'23.

*"He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."*

We have never forgotten how engagingly George romped through "Stop Thief." We presage that he will grin his way through life just as successfully.

Senior Class

RUTH UNDERWOOD, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Y. W. C. A.

*"However it be, it seems to me,
'Tis only noble to be good."*

A surprising little lady with many hidden charms, and one very well known gift of expression which has brought her often before the Wesleyan public. Ruth is ever ready for fun, but studious as one could easily tell by her good grades.

NEESON C. WOODS, A.B.

PHILIPPI, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Webster Debating Club.

"Knowledge is proud that he has learned so much."

Some day judicial robes will claim him for their own and the law profession will profit much by his advent. He has brought his best from another school to this, and Wesleyan is proud of him.

Senior Class

ELSIE WOLVERTON, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Wesleyan School of Music.

"They are never alone that are accompanied with noble thoughts."

Wesleyan has known her graciousness of personality and loveliness of voice, and has appreciated them both. Even though teaching has taken her from us often, the time she has spent with us has left a vivid impression.

DWIGHT L. STEWART, B.S.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Benzene Ring.

"Before men made us citizens, great nature made us men."

His sunny smile and kindly disposition will long be remembered by those who knew him. He is a thorough-going, industrious student, and we feel sure that he will be a success in his chosen profession.

Senior Class

ELNORA LIGGET WERELEY, A.B.
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

*"Experience joined with common sense
To mortals is a providence."*

Though fanning the flames of a hearth-fire, she also finds time to be a most enthusiastic "radio fan" aside from her scholastic activities.

DENNIS W. TENNEY, A.B.
TEN MILE, W. VA.

Wesleyan Academy, '21; Vice-President Y. M. C. A., '23-'24; Chrestomathean Treasurer, Critic; Football, '21; Ministerial Association; Winner Aspinall Oratory Cup; Intercollegiate Debating Teams, '23-'24; Editor Wesleyan Pharos, '23-'24; Graduate in Oratory, '24.

*"I dare do all that becomes a man;
Who dares do more, is none."*

That a prophet is not known in his own country is disputed by the high esteem which Wesleyan accords to Tenney, and as shown by his several honors and achievements in various fields of activity.

Senior Class

HARRY SLAWTER, A.B.

BRIDGEPORT, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Webster Debating Club; Editor Murmurmontlis, '24.

"The mind's the standard of the man."

We were glad to welcome him back to Wesleyan for his last semester's work, for we had not forgotten his high endeavors of previous years. Slawter has proven a good student, a man with conscientious ability, ever anxious to do his duty correctly.

SUSUMU TAKAHASHI, B.S.

TOKIO, JAPAN

Tennis Team, '23, '24.

"The history of tomorrow depends upon the record I make today."

From far-away Tokio comes "Tucky" and yet he is anything but "a stranger within our gates." By his studious habits and characteristic friendliness on the campus, he has proved himself at all times to be a gentleman.

Senior Class

ODAR A. WATSON, A.B.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

President Student Council, '22-'23; Chrestomathean; Wesleyan Masonic Club.

*"Men who their duties know,
But know their rights, and knowing, dare maintain."*

A man who has added much purpose and dignity to collegiate activities, and whom Wesleyan will be proud to call her graduate.

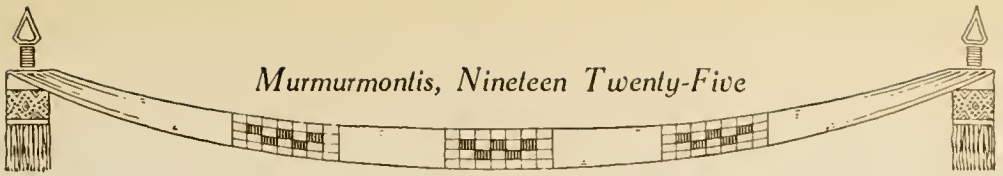

NORMAN SPIES

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

"He works with quiet persistence, but never as hard as he can."

A most engaging chap, who ambles through classes, college and life with the same unbroken good humor and calm. His friends are varied and many.

PURPOSE

To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
 To lead them into membership and service in the Christian church.
 To promote their growth in Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible.
 To influence them to devote themselves in united efforts with all Christians, to make the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extend the kingdom of God throughout the world.

Y. M. C. A.

The purpose of the Y. M. C. A. is to cultivate and keep alive the glow of spiritual enthusiasm and good fellowship. A mid-week meeting is held each Thursday evening at 6:15. The programs which are furnished by students and faculty are both interesting and inspiring. The friendships formed in this organization are of the finest, the richest, and the most lasting of college life.

Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course

The lyceum course offered each year by the Young Men's Christian Association of West Virginia Wesleyan is the biggest course of its kind given in this state. The aim has been to secure the very best talent available and to make the course a little bigger and better each year.

The course offered during 1923-24 has been the best and the most successful that the Y. M. C. A. has ever secured. The talent, consisting of the following, was furnished by the Cuit-Alber Lyceum Bureau of Cleveland, Ohio:

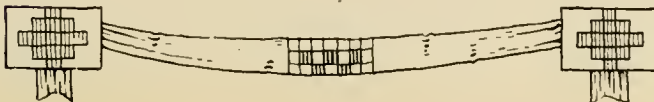

Cleveland Symphonic Quintet
Frederick Ward
Dr. Robert Parker Miles
Mary Adel Hays Opera Company

Burnell Ford
California Male Quartet
Tom Skeyhill
Stephen Leacock

The course for next year, which promises to be a still bigger course, has been booked with this same bureau. The numbers will be as follows:

The Rainbow Ladies' Orchestra
Josephus Daniels
The Moscow Artists (Russian Quartet)
Gay MacLaren

Arthur S. Coggeshall
Fenwick Newell Company
Albert Bushnell Hart
Dr. Henry Black Burns

Student Council

The Student Representative Council has now completed its first full year of work. It has been a successful and progressive year in many ways. The aim has always been to co-operate with the faculty in every possible way, and this has been undertaken by means of various joint committees from the faculty and the Student Council.

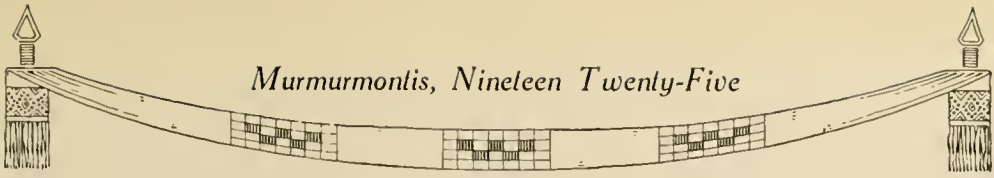

The first steps toward assuming a small degree of student government were taken when the following proposition was presented by the Student Council to the student body and adopted by them: The students shall be responsible for the aesthetic care of the buildings, "campus polish," and the enforcement of the honor system.

The Student Council may well be considered the most vital organization in school because of its direct interest in all other organizations. With the start made this year, it should be able to undertake many more projects in the future which will work toward a better Wesleyan.

Wesleyan Masonic Club

THE Wesleyan Masonic Club was organized in Wesleyan College in 1920 for the purpose of bringing into closer fellowship the Masonic brethren who are associated with Wesleyan College, and who, true to the Masonic ideal, are here for the purpose of better preparing ourselves for traveling in that far and distant country, always working according to the designs which have been laid down to us from time immemorial.

Any Master Mason who is a member of a regular Masonic lodge, and is a student, graduate, or otherwise connected with the college, is eligible for membership.

Chrestomathean Literary Society

In the history of Chrestomathean Literary Society the school year of 1923-'24 has stood for high ideals in literary art. We are proud of our talent and our leaders who have given the challenge of finer "literary" programs. As we gaze back over our history of the year, we see achievement and success. Among the programs of the year, "The Mock Trial," "Living Pictures," "East of Lynn, Mass.," and "Class Nights" are outstanding. The membership has been large and the members faithful. The reception, the banquet, and the literary contest are always pleasant memories to those who, in time, go forth from our hall to fields of service other than Wesleyan.

We hope that, through our society, a deeper spirit and a greater friendliness may be gained by all, and that through such activities each will learn to love and appreciate Wesleyan the more.

Excelsior Literary Society

On Saturday evenings, splendid crowds gather in Excelsior Hall to hear the best of music, of readings, and of talks that Wesleyan has to offer. They listen appreciatively to the Excelsior Times—to the latest little slings and arrows of some outrageous sense of humor.

Excelsior was organized in the days when dates off the campus were watched for with binoculars, when nickelodeons and Fords were not. Throughout the changes of the years, it has remained a loved and honored part of student life and Wesleyan memories. It is more to us than a mere list of names on a roll book, more than a mere meeting place to gather at appointed times. Excelsior was the all in all of those who belonged here in those early days—and we, today, with all our varied interests, hold high the torch they of the past have given.

Cutshall Literary Society

The Cutshall Literary Society, Wesleyan's newest organization, was organized in May, 1923. It has for its purpose the promotion of scholarship and literary work among its members. The membership is limited to twenty men.

In its first year, the society has been a success. Its weekly programs have been so planned that each member appears on the program once each month.

The Cutshall Literary Society has passed from the experimental stage. It has proven itself to be a success and its membership looks forward to greater success in future years.

P. K. C.

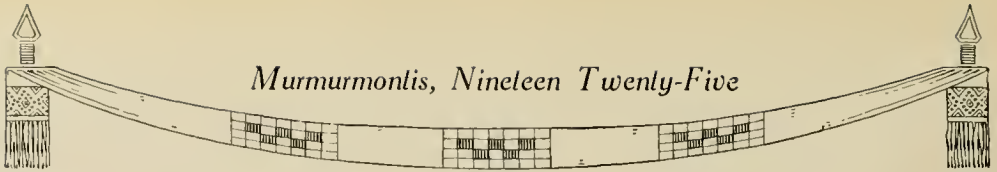

Preachers' Kids are so often not appreciated. That is, the idea seems to be prevalent that the children from parsonages are not jolly and that they are afraid of losing their dignity. On the other hand, the rather contradictory statement has sometimes been made that Preachers' Kids behave in a worse manner than other "kids."

In order to disprove both of these notions, the Preachers' Kids Club was organized with the sole purpose of having a good time. And it has been ably carrying out its purpose in past years and especially during this year. Have you not been able to pick out the members of this organization by their exceeding good nature? Such good nature arises from such wholesome recreation as that enjoyed by the members of P. K. C.

P. K. C. has a splendid history, an energetic present, and should have a bright future in gathering together the coming preachers' kids and helping to make them loyal Wesleyanites.

Webster Debating Club

Webster Debating Club has had a successful year in spite of the fact that the club started poorly, due to the failure of some of its members to return to school. This difficulty was soon overcome and Webster went forward in its work. As in past years, the club was well represented on the intercollegiate squad. Interesting meetings have been held and Webster has attained a coveted position in the field of debating.

Wesleyan Debating Club

The year of 1923-24 marks an important era in the history of Wesleyan Debating Club. Due to the fact that many of the most loyal and valued members graduated last June, only a few were left to carry on the work. The few that were left felt the responsibility of building up the club, to make it a place of opportunity for the members to become more proficient in the methods of debating. A higher standard has been set in the scheduling of debates, for the club is endeavoring to make it a training ground for intercollegiate work.

Wesleyan Debating Club is the proud possessor of the Harding Cup. The club has excelled in social, as well as forensic events, and the fourth annual banquet will be a joyful and long remembered time in this year's record. The new members this year have proved themselves faithful workers. All feel that the success of the Club depends upon present achievements, and not upon past records.

The Wesleyan Pharos

ROBABLY during no year in its history has the Pharos experienced more numerous and important changes than in this year. At the beginning of the year there was no editor and only two or three of the staff members elected last spring were in school. These few representatives met with a committee from the faculty and the Student Council in an attempt to bring order out of chaos, and the present staff, with a few exceptions, was elected, and at once began work. The paper was entirely reorganized and renamed "The Wesleyan Pharos."

It is now published every week, instead of every two weeks as formerly; the staff operates on a competitive basis; and a Board of Control, consisting of three members of the faculty, two of the Pharos staff, two of the alumni, and two of the student body, has been formed. The change which has been made in the appearance of the paper is one which all can appreciate. The special eight-page Christmas number, printed on paper which carried out the school color scheme, was a great success.

We have tried to make of The Wesleyan Pharos this year a paper of which all present and former students of Wesleyan can be proud, both now and in the coming years. We have put our best efforts into making it a progressive, interesting, and representative school paper, which would be a power in every phase of college life. We have given our best to it, and we dedicate our efforts to all lovers of Wesleyan.

Wesleyan Players

ALTHOUGH practically a new club in Wesleyan, "The Players" has made a permanent place for itself in the school life. The work of the club is of unusual merit, and is recognized by the college in that one semester hour of credit is given for membership.

Last year the Theatre Magazine published an article about "The Players," speaking of the worth-while work that was being done.

It is the hope of the club this year to purchase new curtains and equipment for the stage in the college auditorium. In March, a performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" will be given as a benefit, the proceeds going to the College Club. Plans are already under way for a spectacular pageant to be presented at commencement time. The theme of the production will be the romantic story of the border settlers of West Virginia.

The following plays have been presented by "The Players":

"THE PIPER," by Josephine Preston Peabody.

"THE MAN WHO MARRIED A DUMB WIFE," by Anatole France.

"COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN."

The Intercollegiate Debating Club

The Intercollegiate Debating Club is a new organization at Wesleyan College. It is a club distinct from the Wesleyan or Webster Clubs, but is composed of men drawn from these two organizations. Membership in the club is awarded only after forensic ability has been displayed by the candidate.

The Intercollegiate Club is a unit of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Association, organized in April, 1923. The purpose of the association, and of each unit, is to foster and encourage debating and oratory in the state.

Last season (1922-'23) the question, "Resolved, that the power of the Federal Supreme Court to declare statutes unconstitutional be restricted," was debated in a triangle by Bethany, Salem, and Wesleyan. Salem won at Wesleyan, Bethany at Salem, and Wesleyan at Bethany.

The work of the Club is limited because of lack of funds, but it is hoped that through reawakened interest in debating at Wesleyan more loyal support will be given the team and a wider program be possible.

The 1924 Tournament

The eleventh annual West Virginia State High School Basketball Tournament was, in the minds of those who have witnessed all of the tournaments in past years, by far the most successful ever held. The entire affair, starting on the minute, and ending on the minute, showed most thorough planning, and the mammoth event ran as smoothly throughout as a canoe on a quiet lake. This fact is more significant when it is considered that seventy-two basketball teams played in the tournament—nine more teams than ever before entered in the annual event.

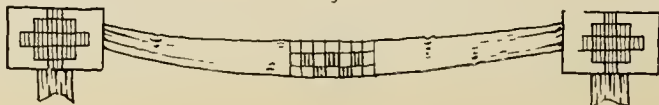

The two-division tournament plan was used again for the third time, and this system proved conclusively its value to the tournament. Physical strain is no longer a tournament problem. It has been reduced to the minimum.

Charleston and Burnsville High Schools won the championship in their respective divisions. Grafton High was runner-up in Division A and East Bank was runner-up in Division B. These four teams were, without doubt, the best in their divisions.

The tournament director, John L. Feets, attributes the success of the tournament to the unexcelled co-operation of high school coaches and teams, and to the college students who unselfishly shouldered the various tasks assigned them in the different departments and discharged their duties with maximum efficiency. Particular commendation is given to Professor Le Tellier, tournament chief of police; Professor George Glauner, chief of ushers, and to the assistant directors, Nicholas Raschella and Dwight Stewart. The organizing and administrative ability of the 1924 tournament director must not be overlooked. It was the wise selection of assistants for the various departments of the tournament that made the big event the huge success it was.

Benzene Ring

THE Benzene Ring was organized in the spring of 1921, by advanced students in the Department of Chemistry. Since then it has had a steady growth, and is now one of the most active and wide-awake organizations of Wesleyan.

The main objective of the Ring is the advancement of physical science. Meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday nights of each month. Programs consist of lectures and demonstrations by students, faculty members, and men of science not connected with the college. Last spring, as guests of the Clarksburg Chamber of Commerce, the society visited a number of important industrial plants in that city. The Benzene Ring furnishes a splendid opportunity for those who are interested in science for its own sake.

Although the organization is primarily of a scientific nature, it does not entirely overlook the lighter aspects of life. Initiations and the annual banquet are social affairs that are always heartily enjoyed by the members.

All students who have completed a year's work in some branch of physical science, are eligible for membership. A class of new members is initiated at the beginning of each semester.

The development of the Benzene Ring has been gradual rather than phenomenal. But, with the momentum that it has already acquired, and with forty-one energetic members all working enthusiastically together, it cannot but continue to contribute more and more toward the initiating and supporting of high ideals in Wesleyan College.

The Wesleyan Chamber Music Society

The Wesleyan Chamber Music Society, organized during the first semester of last year, is considered the best musical organization in Wesleyan. Under the able direction of Prof. Charles Rowe, head of the Department of Violin, the Society has shown remarkable development in the two years of its existence.

The Society is devoted to the study of chamber music and ensemble playing of string quartette and orchestra. Each week the Society appears on the chapel program, giving one or two numbers of a higher type.

Prof. Rowe deserves much credit for the success of the Chamber Music Society, and it is through his efforts that orchestral music was made popular at Wesleyan.

The Student Volunteer Band

Meaning everything that its name implies, the Student Volunteer Mission Group of Wesleyan is striving earnestly and steadily forward to the call of service which is the keynote of its very existence.

Though its members are few, each meeting is fraught with spiritual power and religious fervor of the purest type, resulting in a contagious willingness to help the "other fellow," and making a most flourishing and progressive organization. Besides inspirational biographical study and Scriptural discussions, the interest and worth of every week's gathering is enhanced by current information and help received in letters fresh from the mission front.

In its endeavor to profit by the illustrious examples of the past, its intense desire to realize a practical Christianity, and with its express hope to keep in touch with its champions in the field, this energetic and purposeful band is striking a most vital chord in the spiritual life of Wesleyan, and is busily "brightening its corner" in the heart life of the school.

Wesleyan Athletics

(1923-1924)

IN the dim haze of the distant future Wesleyan people will gaze back over time to the years of 1923 and 1924, and point to these years as landmarks in Wesleyan's athletic progress.

There was once an Indian chieftain who, each year, tested his braves for strength, endurance and will power, by sending them up a steep mountain side on the run to ascertain which could go the farthest in a day.

Each brave was required to bring home some emblem, gathered up as he ran, which would show the height to which he climbed.

Three braves were started out by their chieftain on such a test. At evening time the first returned, and in his hand he bore a sprig of hemlock, showing that he had climbed to the high timber line. A second returned and he bore a hard piece of flint rock, showing that he had climbed to bleak heights beyond the timber line. It was dark when the third returned, his feet torn from traveling over rocks on the mountain side. "What have you to show how high you climbed?" asked his chief. "Nothing," replied the tired brave, "but I saw the sea!"

As one looks into the future he cannot but feel the pride that some Wesleyan man will feel, some time, when he turns back and reads the history of Wesleyan athletics of 1923 and 1924.

With the athletic season of 1923-'24 fast drawing to a close, one cannot but feel optimistic. Through the struggles of early organization and of rebuilding an athletic system, once the greatest in West Virginia, but sacrificed during war time, Wesleyan athletics have again climbed to the mountain top, from where one can look upon the sea.

Our athletic teams are winning a majority of games. Athletic requirements are second only to scholastic requirements. The two march hand in hand. Athletics at Wesleyan are not being developed for the few, but for the many. Special emphasis is being placed on perfection of athletes for varsity teams to provide a goal for the mass.

With the largest gymnasium in West Virginia, plans are now being rapidly completed for the placing of a completely equipped and appointed athletic field on the campus. The present field will, in the near future, be the site for a new college building. Good roads are fast linking up our college town with main thoroughfares leading to trunk line national road systems. Thousands will, in the near future, gather here for important athletic events. Preparation is being made for that time now.

Each year shows Wesleyan getting higher and higher recognition in national collegiate athletic circles. The 1924 schedules show a decided step forward. The present athletic system, founded on sound basic principles, stands for clean, constructive athletics; athletics that will help build a better and bigger Wesleyan.

Baseball, 1923

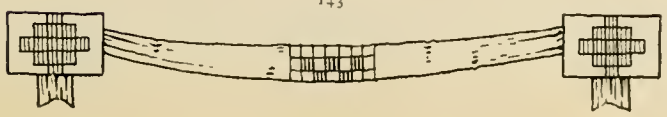

THE Wesleyan baseball team, under the able coaching of Kelcel M. Ross, enjoyed a very successful season. Not a game was lost on the collegiate schedule. The Pittsburgh Collegians defeated Wesleyan one game in a two-game series, but decisive victories were chalked up over West Virginia University and Salem College. West Virginia had held the Tri-State Collegiate Baseball Championship prior to 1923. The honors fell to Wesleyan at the close of 1923.

Beecher Dunn led the batting averages with the unusual average of .566. Schwartz was next with .472, followed by Bullman batting at .400 and Johnson with .386. The ability of these men to hit played an important part in bringing to Wesleyan the mythical tri-state collegiate pennant.

Letters were awarded to the following men at the close of the 1923 season: B. Dunn, 3b; H. Schwartz, 1b; Johnson, ss; Knight, 2b; Ross, c; Bullman, lf; Carter, rf; Young, rf; Swisher, p; Whichello, p; Rider, p; Tays, 3b.

The 1923 Football Season

THE 1923 football season closed with Wesleyan farther up the ladder of national collegiate recognition than at any time in the history of the school. After a decisive victory over John Carroll University in an inter-sectional contest played in Cleveland, Ohio, Wesleyan was ranked among the fourth ten of all collegiate football elevens in the country. Wesleyan was classed with Alabama and Nebraska.

To Coach Higgins belongs no little praise for the upward climb of Wesleyan football. Starting the season with a squad made up largely of first year men, Wesleyan surprised its most ardent supporters. The team improved as the season progressed, with the plan of "building for the future," always placed ahead of "risking all to win any single game." Consequently Wesleyan has, for the first time in the history of the school, a strong athletic system built upon a sound foundation.

Wesleyan Basketball

THE 1924 basketball season is now history. Starting with a squad of new material, Coach Kelcel Ross surprised his most ardent followers by winning the opening games of the schedule by overwhelming scores. This, however, served to dull the spirit at mid-season when hard road trips with difficult games cost the Bob Cats several games. The early success had sharpened anticipation.

Out of the darkest hour of the season, a season trailing a series of years when state championship pennants waved from the Wesleyan stronghold, came the Wesleyan victory over Marietta at Marietta. This was followed by a remarkable victory over Carnegie Tech at Pittsburg, and the season closed in a blaze of glory when Salem and Davis & Elkins were decisively defeated.

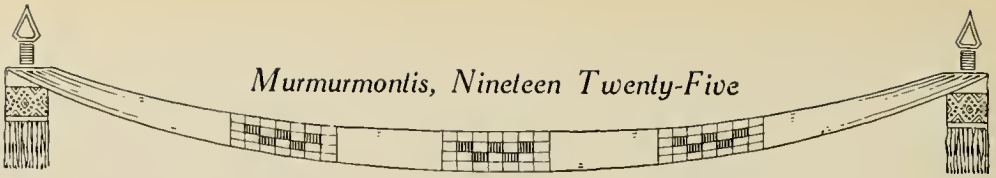

The team loses but one man this year, but this loss is a serious blow to Wesleyan basketball. Captain John Knight closed his collegiate basketball career on March 12, when, playing the greatest game of his life, he placed the Bob Cat hanner high for his successor to carry forward according to Wesleyan traditions.

Columns could be written on the stirring events of the season just closed. More could be said for the glory of the players, but all would add nothing to the realities of the situation. Wesleyan closed a successful season, just one stone in the plans for future seasons. The men who packed away their uniforms a few weeks ago have not started to play basketball yet like they will play in another season. If a first year team can accomplish in one year what Wesleyan has in the past year, one needs not to be a prophet to see promise ahead.

Girls' Athletics

Wesleyan has developed the Department of Physical Education for Women with as much interest as has marked the department for men. Last year the Girls' Wesleyan basketball team won the state girls' collegiate title of West Virginia, and retained the title again this year after several brilliant victories. A field hockey team has been formed but, owing to the fact that no other college in West Virginia has developed this sport, intercollegiate contests are impossible. The hockey team met inter-class teams in a series of games, popularizing the sport at Wesleyan. With physical education a requisite for graduation at Wesleyan, indoor gymnastics and games have served to make highly interesting and instructive the work of the department under Miss Nason's supervision.

Girls' Basketball

The West Virginia Wesleyan College girls' basketball team lost the State Girls' Collegiate title this year to West Liberty Normal after holding the championship one year. Starting out with practically a first-year team, Miss Nason, the coach, has developed an excellent team, and if the team can schedule sufficient games next year, it should win back the high honors won in 1922-23.

The Calendar

SEPTEMBER

- 10—Registration.
"The animals come in two by two,
There's lots of rivers to cross,
They sign for Math and for Chemistry, too,
There's lots of rivers to cross."
- 12—School begins. Freshmen are learning not to wave their hands when a question is propounded.
- 13—Christian Associations' reception.
- 14—Excelsior reception.
- 17—Chresto reception. That play! What a combination of woodman-spare-that-tree, curfew-shall-not-ring-tonight and gypsy's-warning!
- 22—Dr. Cutshall talks to us in chapel. He tells us to "forget it." The orchestra makes its first appearance.
- 26—Big "thuse" before the game.
- 28—More "thuse." Glauner forgets his notes and has to dismiss class.
- 29—W. V. U. game at Fairmont. "I cannot sing the old songs!" "Wouldn't thou see Wesleyan defeat W. V. U.? Then," says Poor Richard, "Throw not away your picture postal cards of 1917."

OCTOBER

- 2—The morning after the game before. Karickhoff assigns us the football rules to read. "I didn't raise my boy to be a rough-neck—"
- 4—First Psychology test. "In the gloaming, oh, my darling, when the grades come in so low!"
- 5—Salem 6, Wesleyan 14. "7-2 Kraus!" Wehl runs 60 yards for a touchdown.
- 6—The Freshmen hear something in chapel that recalls the little Jitty, "Keep your head down, Fritzie boy!"

8—Open house at the Hall. First floor, dominoes; second floor, ———; third floor, ! ! ! ! ! ! ! (Censored).

14—Lorraine Altman sees several dogs like that of the president in town, and makes the weighty observation: "They must have hatched out a whole flock of those puppies."

NOVEMBER

- 8—Music recital is a success. Students leave for the Y. M. C. A. Conference at Clarksburg.
- 11—Armistice Day. Judge McWhorter talks in chapel. Several students try out the balcony. They seem to be sittin' pretty all right.
- 14—Cleveland Symphony Quintet. Did you hear about "The Rosary?" (The answer is, "I did!")
- 15—We line up for our pictures, but the birdie isn't there for us to watch. The Freshmen get caught going in and out the front door. Woe he!
- 20—First Silver Tea lecture of Women's College Club is a success.
- 26—Freshies lose tug of war. "The breaking rope dashed them—"
- 28—Wesleyan heavyweights overturn B. and O. en route to Charleston.
- 29—Thanksgiving. Altogether now, let's sing, "There's a big fat turkey out to gran'ma's house!"

DECEMBER

- 8—"Elizabeth's Man" at Excelsior. House is packed.
- 10—Cadman and his staff pursue the elusive microbe in Buckhannon River. "Some little bug is going to get you some day!"

13—May Phillips and Winfield Patterson elected to Board of Control of the Wesleyan Pharos.

17—Expression recital draws a crowd.

22—Natalie Oates and Stretch Gamblin are married. Congratulations!

25—Winona Bennett and James Edward Law, Jr., are married. More congratulations!

27—Beulah Holtz and Nick Carter are married. Still more congratulations!

28—Students attend Ninth Quadrennial Convention of Student Volunteers at Indianapolis. We have used up our congratulations, or we should send them some.

JANUARY

10—Current Events quiz in History. Glauber learns a lot; that Edgar Lee Masters is poetmaster-general, Carrie Chapman Catt murdered her husband, Bonar Law is former president of France. Your news is served up hot, fresh every hour here. Absolutely new!

12—Vincent Johns elected president of Excelsior, and Luke Rogers of Chresto.

Chalmers Ault and Colomho elected managers of basketball and baseball.

14—Junior banquet. A royal combination of conversation, ice cream, and inmates of Noah's ark.

15—The first student leader of chapel is John Hanifan.

22—Mary Adell Hayes Company. I pray you, remember the curtain!

23—Exams begin. "Just before the hattle, mother!" We hear murmurs of "Lord God of Hosts be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget!"

26—Exams end. We hear murmurs of "The Lord of Hosts was with us not, for we forgot, for we forgot," and, "Deed I am going to study hard next semester, and keep my work up every day."

26—Bethany 12, Wesleyan 28.

From the Sophomore's Viewpoint

By MARY SUMNER

THE Sophomore was wise, very wise. Even in his Freshman year, he was wise. There was the time when he had been calling on some girls, and one of them had told him that an upper classman was standing outside and waiting to get his name when he came out to report to the sheriff of Freshman Court. He had gone out the back door, around the square, passed the upper classman, and gone home to bed, leaving him still standing there watching the house which he thought contained a Freshman who was violating the rules the upper classman had passed for the Freshman Class, by having a "date," and was thus eligible for punishment. But all that was before he met The Fair One. After that, things were different.

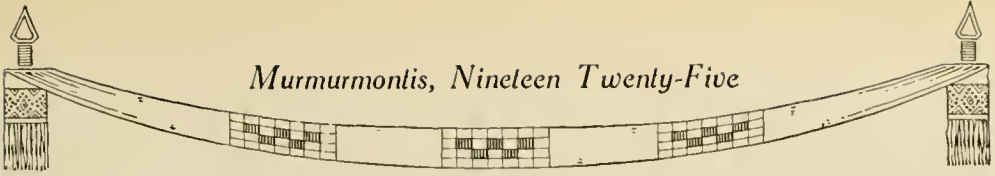

The Fair One was good to look upon; no one was more conscious of that than The Sophomore. Since the first time he had seen her blue eyes and golden hair, other girls had not mattered in the least. She was different, somehow. He could talk to other girls, and could ask them if he might "come around and study math" with them as well as anyone; but with The Fair One, he could only worship from afar.

All through Freshman year he had tried to sum up courage to speak to her, but what right has a poor, degraded "Freshie" to speak to one a whole class ahead of him, and especially to such as The Fair One? But now that he was a proud and honored Sophomore, and, since he had, that very morning, received an encouraging smile from her as she passed him on her way to English class, he determined that he would wait no longer; he would ask her to go to the Sophomore banquet with him the next week.

The following day he was in front of the English building fully half an hour before time for class, waiting for her; but when he really saw her coming, he could only gasp—and let her pass. All that day he followed her and tried to speak, but each time it seemed harder than before. He decided to buy the tickets first and then ask her to go. It would be much easier to say: "Wouldn't you like to go to the banquet next week? I have a couple of tickets, if you would." So he bought the tickets.

That week passed and the next was well on its way, and still he had not asked the momentous question. The tickets were rather worn by this time from being carried in his pocket all week, and from being carefully inspected every night to see that there was no mistake. Every day he resolved that he would do it, but, somehow, The Fair One always took his breath away. At last came the day before the banquet, his last opportunity, and still he could not ask her. Finally, he decided to confide his troubles to The Freshman, his room-mate.

Murmurmontis, Nineteen Twenty-Five

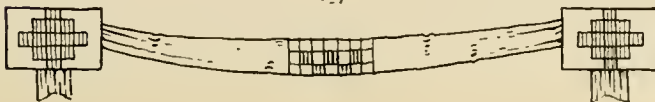

The Freshman and he were great friends. The Sophomore was very benevolent. He did not believe in reporting The Freshman, and he often told The Freshman how he considered the special activity of his classmates that year, in carrying little note-books for the express purpose of writing down the names of poor, unfortunate "Freshies," beneath the dignity of the Sophomore Class. On this, he and The Freshmen agreed perfectly.

So that night he told The Freshman about The Fair One and his trouble. The Freshman did not know The Fair One, and was inclined to make light of the whole affair and of girls in general. This gave the Sophomore an idea. "You don't know her, so you won't mind! Ask her for me, there's a good fellow, and I'll buy you a ticket to that good movie you wanted to see tomorrow night."

The Freshman was obliging, and The Sophomore had been good to him. Besides, the picture for the next evening was one he had, for a long time, wanted to see, and it was expensive, so he readily consented. The next morning they both waited outside the English building until they saw her coming, and The Sophomore pointed her out—then fled. But all The Freshman's pleas proved unavailing for, as he told The Sophomore that evening, she had a test the next day, and must study.

The Sophomore did not go to the banquet that night. He didn't want to go without a girl when all the other fellows would have one, and he didn't want to ask any except The Fair One. He studied until rather late, then growing lonely (The Freshman had claimed and used the theatre ticket, saying that he had done his best), he decided to go for a walk. Half unconsciously his steps took the direction of The Fair One's home. He overtook a Junior going in the same direction, and they walked along together. The Sophomore smiled good-naturedly as they passed several couples of Freshmen, taking advantage of this night when their arch-enemy, the Sophomore Class, was eating, drinking and making merry, by enjoying the movies together.

Suddenly he stopped and stared closely at a couple on the opposite side of the street. He could not mistake that coat or the bold confident air. It was The Freshman, and smiling up into his eyes, as she talked to him, was The Fair One. Then something happened to The Sophomore. Suddenly he seized his companion by the arm, hurried him across the street, and asked if he recognized the couple. Slowly he drew out his watch and noted the time, took from his pocket a pencil and the only piece of paper he could find, to note the name and time. He turned the paper over to the light. It was a ticket to the Sophomore banquet.

Where are the Boys?

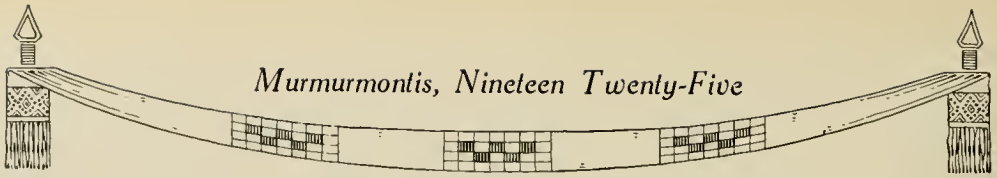

In the Library

Have I the time to sit
And gaze through panes of glass
At autumn glories and the mass
Of color on the scalloped hills?
Should I yield to thoughts in books
When sunny hills and shady nooks
Are filled with thoughts that manifest
That which no man has expressed?
Great lessons must we mortals learn,
For books we must not nature spurn,
As greatest books cannot be bought
And greatest lessons are not taught.
God put nature here, and we,
In every twig on bush and tree,
From birds that sing to clouds unfurled
May learn the lessons of the world.
God has planned life's greatest role
'Twixt nature and the human soul.

R. E. F., '25.

Can You Imagine

A Freshman getting back a theme and not seeing red?
Professor Karickhoff parting his hair in the middle?
Professor Green not getting nervous during one of his chapel speeches?
Marcia-Mae Horton without a meeting?
Florence Holt as Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin?"
Professor Crissman ever killing the rabbit he's been chasing all year?
Professor Brown not asked to "benedict" at students' meeting?
"Kid" Heming strolling across the campus?
Dr. Chrisman undernourished?
Gail Evans standing up for any length of time?
Miss Smith playing hop-scotch around the triangle?
What Wesleyan will do now that Tenney is graduating?
A student sitting in the balcony to enjoy chapel?
Professor Glauner not popular with the girls?

The Annual Faculty Reception

THE annual reception given by the faculty is always one of Wesleyan's outstanding social features, and 1923 was no exception. The student body, who had begun to think that the faculty members were interested only in the amount of work they were giving out, was agreeably surprised when announcement was made in chapel that the faculty would entertain with a Hallowe'en party Monday evening, October 29.

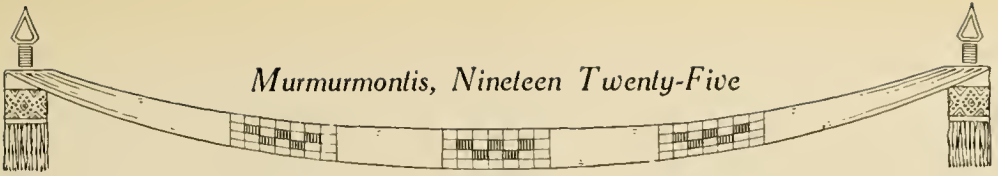

On that day the faculty members were out in full strength. Perhaps no other group in Wesleyan has ever gone into a thing more enthusiastically than did the members of the faculty in preparation for this event. The large auditorium of the gymnasium was transformed into a veritable fairyland. The guests began arriving about eight o'clock and before long it was apparent that one of the largest crowds of the year would be in attendance. Nearly all present were masked and the variety of costumes was very great. Miss Marple as a Christmas tree; "Fiddle" Harper as a gladiator; Dean Haught as a colonial bishop, and Kelcel Ross as George Washington were splendid portrayals. The sensation of the evening was caused by the arrival of "Spark Plug," led by his faithful master, "Barney Google," alias Vincent Johns, and ridden by "Lil Sunshine," alias Thomas Heming.

Autumn leaves, cornstalks, black cats and witches' tents soon led one into the land of witches and fairies. The witches' caldron, from which cider flowed freely, was a popular resort for thirsty folk during the evening. After the grand march the audience was seated and a highly entertaining program was rendered. Professor Rowe, dressed as a Turk, created an atmosphere with his violin which gave inspiration to that part of the program which followed. Professors Little and Fishpaugh, in keeping with the evening, told weird ghost stories which greatly delighted the listeners.

The latter part of the program consisted of a variety of comedy acts, starring Professors Le Tellier and Green. Le Tellier kept the audience in an uproar by his antics as a negro comedian. The action centered on some of the original contents of King "Tut's" tomb; namely, King "Tut's" mummy, a cat, a dog, and a chicken. Life was still present in the last three, and after an extended experiment King "Tut" was restored to life. The negro caused much merriment when he attempted, after putting on roller-skates, to catch the chicken. With that efficiency which is peculiar to the colored race he finally succeeded in capturing the fowl. A loud explosion followed his entrance into the compartment in which the contents of the tomb had been shipped, after which the negro came forth eating a leg of the chicken. Following this, the prizes of the evening were given to Miss Trunick, as an angel, for having the prettiest costume, and to Howard Jamison and Eugene Modlin, as "Spark Plug," for having the most clever costume.

At the conclusion of the program all were invited to the dining room of the gymnasium, where a menu consisting of pumpkin pie, apples, and all-day suckers was served. At a late hour the guests departed, having voted the evening a delightful success, with a new sense of appreciation for every member of the college faculty.

Jokes

Patterson: "Boys, I've got a new song, 'The Old Oaken Bucket.'"

Jamison: "Where did you get it?"

Patterson: "I made it up out of my head."

* * *

Dr. Chrisman (commenting on Dante's "Inferno"): "I have never yet been able to get the geography of hell straightened out, but I hope to sometime."

* * *

Insurance Agent: "Are your parents living, Mr. Haught?"

Dean Haught: "Yes, sir."

Insurance Agent: "Your grandparents?"

Dean Haught: "I have one grandfather living."

Insurance Agent: "Which side is he on—your father's or mother's?"

Dean Haught: "Well, he remains fairly neutral. He doesn't take either side."

Professor Wallin: "A college professor once looked in every room in the house for a certain book while carrying the book in his hand, but I won't tell you who it was."

* * *

Professor Hyma (after putting his shirt on over his vest): "How provoking!"

* * *

Coyner (watching two Wesleyanites digging and sweating to get a large root out of a ditch they are digging): "Boys, I suppose you are glad that root is there, as it makes the job last longer."

Gamblin (with hopeless look on his face): "Yes, but this is a contract job."

Tired stranger (walking up Florida street and seeing name of a street on a sign): "I thought we must be in the Southern states by this time."

Bright lawyer (to student who is witness): "Were you present at the inception of the alteration?"

Student: "No, but I was there when the fight started."

* * *

Mrs. Hughes: "Mr. Woods, are you up?"

Doran Woods (just waking): "Ye-es, I'm u-upstairs."

Vincent Johns: "If it wasn't for my voice I'd be a good singer."

Greek (to Barns, who had emptied the ketchup bottle in his soup): "Say, what's the matta? Which-a you buy, the ketchup or the soup?"

* * *

Dennis Tenny is a fresh air fiend. It is told that he went with a friend to spend the night at a certain place. He told the friend that he could not possibly go to sleep unless there was an ample supply of fresh air in the room. He looked for the window and, on finding it, tried to raise it, but found that it would not move an inch. Then he knocked the glass out, and after doing this he went to bed in peace and slept soundly until morning. But the next day Mr. Tenny found that he had smashed the glass out of a bookcase.

Asa Morrison: "Boys, I'm so bright that when I go home they turn all the lights out and my father calls me 'Son.'"

Murmurmontis, Nineteen Twenty-Five

Dean Haught (speaking in chapel): "In sixteen or seventeen years you students will have grown. You will not then be the same men and women you are now. It would be a pity if you are."

* * *

Professor Paul Crissman (in psychology): "Mr. Dunn, when the word 'stake' was mentioned, did you see a stake?"

Dunn: "No, sir; only smelt it."

Dr. Chrisman: "My literary society is the oldest in the United States, having been organized in 1783. However, I was not one of the charter members."

* * *

Evans: "How many coins do I have in my hand?"

Pauley: "You have two."

Evans: "I have eight."

Pauley: "I guess I can see. You only have two."

Evans: "Would you be willing to set me up if I am wrong?"

Pauley: "Yes, sir."

Evans: "Well, I'm wrong."

* * *

Miss Smith (in English): "Mr. Westfall, which is correct: The hens sit, or the hens set?"

"Dink" Westfall: "That doesn't worry me so much as whether they are laying or lying when I hear them cackle."

* * *

Wm. Casto (on auto trip): "Say, boy, how far is it to Salem?"

Boy: "Well, the way you are going it is 24,996 miles, but if you turn and go back it is only four miles."

* * *

Professor Karickhoff (going to train): "Well, if I didn't go off and leave my watch! I wonder if I'll have time to go back and get it." (Then, taking out his watch and glancing at it) "Yes, I'll have plenty of time."

Little girl at dinner: "Pass the butter."

Mother: "If you—what?"

Little girl: "If you can reach it."

Luke Rogers: "Yes, sir, and when I saw that black bear I want you to know that my face got white and white—as white as your shirt." Then looking upon his friend Denton Harold's shirt, he added, "Whiter."

Judge (to prisoner): "Ten dollars fine."

Prisoner (laughing): "I've got 'er right here in my jeans, judge."

Judge: "And thirty days in jail. See if you have that in your jeans."

Jamison (to our youthful President Cutshall): "Say, fellow, have you registered yet?"

* * *

Pat Murphy (at Ward Club to opposite table): "Do you have any potatoes over there?"

Curry: "What about them, if we do?"

Murphy: "They're a nice thing to have."

Student (who does not accept theory of evolution): "My great-great-grandmother may have thrown a rolling pin at her husband, but she never threw any cocoanuts."

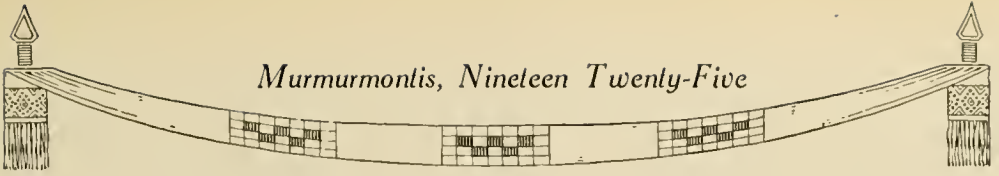

* * *

"It's the little things in life that tell," said "Peg," as she dragged her small kid brother from underneath the sofa.

The initials of a friend

You will find these letters on many tools by which electricity works. They are on great generators used by electric light and power companies ; and on lamps that light millions of homes.

They are on big motors that pull railway trains ; and on tiny motors that make hard housework easy.

By such tools electricity dispels the dark and lifts heavy burdens from human shoulders. Hence the letters G-E are more than a trademark. They are an emblem of service—the initials of a friend.

WHAT IS YOUR LIFE WORK TO BE?

President Coolidge says: "He who sells an insurance policy sells a certificate of character, an evidence of good citizenship, an unimpeachable title to the right of self-government."

The need for insurance is as old as it is universal and more urgent in hard times than in prosperous periods. The life insurance agent is his own master, controlling his own time, earning in exact proportion to his successful effort, and finding no limit to the new applications of insurance to needs. The economic human value is now scarcely more than one-seventh protected.

Do you want to engage in a dignified profession; to help serve the social order; to represent the greatest institution in the world; to choose those with whom you deal; to find business any time and everywhere; to work for yourself and earn accordingly?

Will you let us tell you more about this great business and especially concerning
